Now listen to this story cause it's real
I knew an emcee who kept it real, kid had mad skills, plus a record deal
But that street trife life still appealed, so he continued to deal
Didn't know that all his friends wasn't his friends, man you know the deal Hanging out with heads trying to build, but inside they jealous of his record deal So while he's chilling buying everybody meals, they scheming a plan to take his bills xxxx shots to the pill, - couldn't let his past go, he kept it real Now he's really gone, his girl really can't go on His friends really miss him, and he really won't make no more songs
He was really hard, he kept it really real He really didn't sell out, he lived that thug life for real Now,Â really was it worth it, he really didn't deserve it You really find out your friends when the fanblades hit shit
And really sometimes, if you don't leave it behind You really won't get an opportunity to shine
...now that's real!
