"For You"

Caught a glimpse of you, caught myself starin'
Where do I begin
Or where do I start?
Part of who I am wants me to move
Like I've got something to prove
So where do I start?

Chorus

I will search the world for you
And I would give my soul for you
And I would give it all for you

Secretly I find that it'd be much better
To write you a letter
Like some sort of messenger
Cause part of me is scared of what you might think
This could all go down by the time you blink
So where do I start?

Chorus 2

I will search the world for you
And I would give my soul for you
And I will walk the earth to be with you
And I would give it all for you

This might be my last chance
Cause somehow now makes sense
Cause tonight you're my everything
You're the reason why the world keeps spinning
I will tear my world apart
Just to get to you so I can start...
Over... Better late than never
And I would do it all for you
