As we taste the shadows of our lies and our sweet mistakes
We lose control, will we ever get it back?
As we try to make things better, we seem to make them worse
If it was up to me.....If it was up to me.....

Chorus:

If I could change the world
Is it worth fighting for
When no one's breathing, no one's breathing?
If I could have my way
I'd try to make it change
But no one's breathing, no one's breathing
Anymore

When we break the trust we've earned, we could lose it all
When we make mistakes, do we get what we deserve?
It's underneath the lies, it's what we create
We're scared to know how the truth slipped away

We take and then we take
Until it makes us break

Chorus:

If I could change the world
Is it worth fighting for
When no one's breathing, no one's breathing?
If I could have my way
I'd try to make it change
But no one's breathing, no one's breathing
Anymore

The choices that we make (make us who we are)
The ignorance we share (takes the pain away)
But it takes your breath away
When will we find our way?

If I could change the world
Is it worth fighting for

When no one's breathing, no one's breathing?

If I could change the world

Is it worth fighting for

When no one's breathing, no one's breathing?

If I could have my way

I'd try to make it change

But no one's breathing, no one's breathing

Anymore

If I could change the world

no one's breathing

Anymore

When will we find our way?
