I don't go out searching
I try to get lost
I am no longer seeking out your cup or your cross
So, if you ever get to wandering 'cause you've been wondering where I am
If I appear more like smoke to you than like the water in your dam
Don't turn away

There is a higher road just up ahead I'm told
Oh, may we find it together
May we remain forever one

Have I been distracted?
Nearer to absence than to man?
Lost in a fog of nothingness?
Adrift without a map or plan?
I can tell your patience is threadbare to the strand
What was once a mighty ocean here is more like water through your hands
Don't turn away

There is a higher road just up ahead I'm told
Oh, may we find it together
May we remain forever one

There is a higher road just up ahead I'm told
Oh, may we find it together
May we remain forever one
