

John Rush

"Fifty Dollars"

Visit "Fifty Dollars" on MotoLyrics.com

Fifty dollars and they don't know my name
Fifty dollars and I treat 'em just the same
Just another hour to go
An intermission and another show
Here's fifty dollars and they don't know my name

Take another turn and they don't know my name
I'll make another turn and treat 'em just the same
Just another hour for me
Another hour of bad company
Take another turn and they don't know my name

High, high, high
High, high, high
High, high, high
High, high, high

And theres no escape tonight
In this never-ending game
And theres no use asking why it makes me cry
But theres fifty dollars and they dont know my name

Take another shot and they dont know my name
Take another shot to try and kill this pain
I feel it burning in my ear
How the hell did I end up here
Take another shot and they dont know my name

High, high, high
High, high, high

High, high, high
High, high, high

And theres no escape tonight
In this never-ending game
And theres no use asking why it makes me cry
But theres fifty dollars and they dont know my name

Visit John Rush page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

