Hello Ray, I wonder what you're doing today
I wonder how you've been, sure would like to see you again

I'd like to talk with you if you and I could find the time
I've got a thought or two burning a hole in my mind

But now I don't know who you are
And you are so far away.....oh, Ray

I remember matchbox cars, model rockets, and electric trains Miniatures and glowing stars, and riding Big-wheels in the rain

Once in a while do you stop to think of me
Do you smile when you remember how it used to be

I never thought that it could end
You and I we were such good friends
But now I don't know what to say.....oh Ray

But now I don't know who you are
And you are so far away.....oh, Ray
