So I'm supposed to find myself somewhere within my mind
But where will I be Trying to find a way, working to fill my day with noise
To shelter me

But in my dream I see your face and your memroy's replaced
I know the colors that you wore
With your help I've tried to push my fear
And after part of me has died Theres nothing left to hid....oh no, no nothing left to hide.

I've had my share of doubt, I tried to work things out again
With all the lies But looking though my thoughts I see little bits of history unfold
Before my eyes

But in my dream I see your face and your memroy's
replaced
I know the colors that you wore
With your help I've tried to push my fear

And after part of me has died
hide.

No angel's gonna call tonight Mothers breath will not be there And I am not myself but do you care

I find myself again sitting here without a friend to share
The thoughts I feel
But in my words I hear another voice becoming clear who knows
Which one is real

But in my dream I see your face and your memroy's

replaced
I know the colors that you wore
With your help I've tried to push my fear
And after part of me has died
hide.
