

John Stewart "Starman"

Visit "Starman" on MotoLyrics.com

If children never were hurt
No reason for babies to cry
If nobody ever was hungry
And no one you loved ever died

And nobody ever was heartless
And nobody ever was cruel
And everyone got all their wishes
And only the good would rule

And these are the dreams of the Starman
Even if he never is heard
Oh these are the dreams of the Starman
Forever the keeper of words

If religions never were righteous
Believing that they are the one
If ever there was never a reason
Ever to carry a gun

And these are the dreams of the Starman
Even if he never is heard
And these are the dreams of the Starman
Forever the keeper of words

If we would just live all our own lives
And leave other people alone
And those who just love one another
Would not be the targets of stones

Then these are the dreams of the Starman
Even if he never is heard
Oh these are the dreams of the Starman
Forever the keeper of words

And these are the dreams of the Starman
Even if he never is heard
And these are the dreams of the Starman
Forever the keeper of words

