"Sit Tight"

Sit tight, it's your version of alive
You keep your molecules inside
I know you know desire is not so polite

Take a quick breath, do you feel what's inside?
Restraint is the frame that you have found
But I see your soul as Juan Miro'
Maybe a Chagall

Escaping through your eyes like a liquid time
Take a quick breath do you feel what's inside?
Take a quick breath, do you still feel?

Your tongue is twisted silk like Into ragged reason, untie your disguise
Come into the sunlight
There you are in sight

The reason is, the reason is, the reasons are There for you to ignore

You drift into the wind of love
And all you desired, dreamed of
Is found under your feet
It was there all the time

I know you feel alone, those pictures are never gonna leave my head
Your tears so heavy, they're breaking down doors inside your head
Someday you're gonna find her, she will be almost blinded
By the light so bright you keep inside your heart, heavy as lead

I know you feel alone, those pictures are never gonna
leave my head
Your tears so heavy, they're breaking down doors in your head, in your head Someday you're gonna find her, she will be almost
blinded

By the light so bright you keep inside your heart
