

John Wesley Harding "Roy Orbison Knows"

Visit "Roy Orbison Knows" on MotoLyrics.com

Well, your voice grips me tight like fingers
Takes hold of whatever's inside
Though we try to harmonize with different singers
When we're out of tune at least we'll know we've tried Baby, it's a hopeless feeling, leaves Mr. Logic reeling

I love you, I know but what does that mean?
When the only place forward is where we've just been It's time to think twice, it's time to decide
Turn and keep walking or be my bride
Or be my bride or be my bride

Well, Roy Orbison, he knows that I can't forget you Well, he told me last night at forty-five, hope this honesty
Doesn't honestly upset you, he said, "To lie is death to love"
I know, we're still alive, baby, when the morning's breaking
So many actresses have already started faking

I love you, I know but it's not such a big deal
I'm gonna tape you this song on my reel to reel to reel
It's time to think twice, make up your mind
Take me to the altar or leave me behind
Or leave me behind or leave me behind

Well, my memories, they lie to me just because they want to
Well, like a runaway train, you know, I have no control I'm gonna tell them where you live so they can go and haunt you
And take back all the parts of me you stole
But I no longer feel like crying, my nervous system's dying

I love you, I know but I'm anesthetized
I was foolishly hopeful, now I've realized
It was time to think twice, you had to go
I hope that you blossom, I hope that you grow
Write me a postcard, make it some little thing

If you get married, I'll carry the ring
If you get married, introduce me to him
Introduce me to him, introduce me to him

Visit John Wesley Harding page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

MotoLyrics.com | Lyrics, music videos, artist biographies, releases and more.