Maybe it's just about time
I told you I'm all
Through with you
But just about the time
I start to tell you
I start feeling blue

And just about then
I lose my nerve and
Wait another day or two
Cause just about the time
I think it's over
I start missing you

It's just about time
I had my say and
Told you a thing or two
It's just about time
I paid you back for
Treating me like you do

But just about the time
I get the nerve
I can't seem to carry it through
Cause just about then
An empty feeling
Reminds me I miss you

It's just about time
I let you know
I've had my fill of you
But just about the time
I think about going
I start missing you

I'd like to go find another love
That'll never be untrue
But just about the time
I think about leaving
I start missing you
