Yes the wind changes and one morning early a good
wind will be blowing for me
Yes the wind changes and one morning early a good
wind will be blowing for me

Away like a bird you have flown and upon a wild wind you were blown Where you're bound I don't know nor the way that you go
But the wonderlust beckons you on

Yes the wind changes and one morning early a good
wind will be blowing for me
Yes the wind changes and one morning early a good
wind will be blowing for me

The wind sings its song in the tree but the wind song is never for me
When followin' your track the wind's at your back Makin' whirlwinds where you used to be

Yes the wind changes and one morning early a good
wind will be blowing for me
Yes the wind changes and one morning early a good
wind will be blowing for me

[mandocello]

The wind quietly hides in the night and it rises again with the light
But the days never fly they're slow to go by
And like you there's something I can't fight

Yes the wind changes and one morning early a good
wind will be blowing for me
Yes the wind changes and one morning early a good
wind will be blowing for me
