

Johnny Cash

"When I've Learned Enough To Die"

Visit "When I've Learned Enough To Die" on MotoLyrics.com

(When I've learned enough to really live I'll be old enough to die old enough to die)
I've met the Master on my knees I was tested I was tried I've seen the God of heaven paint the fields and country side
I've been the husband of one wife heard my newborn baby cry
But when I've learned enough to really live I'll be old enough to die old enough to die
I've always been a hard working man no stopping place have I found
But when I'm tired I'm still inspired at night when I lie down
I've learned to kinda like this earth some time I wonder why Cause when I've learned enough to really live I'll be old enough to die
Old enough to die

(When I've learned enough to really live I'll be old
enough to die old enough to die)
I've always been a hard working man...
Old enough to die

Visit Johnny Cash page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.