

Carla Lothar "Captain Courageous"

Visit "Captain Courageous" on MotoLyrics.com

There is a place somewhere inside you it is a place most never see where heaven and hell come together to find you to cut you down and cut you free

Captain Courageous
Looking for moonbeams
Facing his fears for he had to see
Out of the blue and into the black
With an eye on his soul and the wind at his back

Inside the box we choose to carry All that we feel, so neatly tied Untie the knot that you cling to so madly
A part of you lives, and a part of you dies
Captain Courageous
Looking for moonbeams
Facing his fears for he had to see
Out of the blue and into the black
With an eye on his soul and the wind at his back

there comes a time someday some hour it is the time your truly alone in the mirror you'll see your box spinning downward fallin-I-way(?), your finally home.

Captain Courageous
Looking for moonbeams
Facing his fears for he had to see
Out of the blue and into the black
With an eye on his soul and the wind at his back
With an eye on his soul and the wind at his back

Visit Carla Lothar page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.