No love but your love can set my world on fire

No love but your love can fill me with desire

No love but your love can shape my destiny

No love but your love can make a slave of me

No arms but your arms can banish all my fears

No charms but your charms could last a thousand years

No love but your love will ever thrill me so

No love but your love will my heart ever know

No love
