The sun always shines in my world down
Even when the rain should fall
The light of happiness is always shining
And your love is the key to it all

One day you just walked into these arms of mine
Lift me up and with your love made me stand tall
Now I know what happiness in life is all about
And your love is the key to it all

Your love is the key that fits every lock
To every single door in failure's wall
Now I'm strong enough to do anything
I have to and your love is the key to it all

One day you just walked
Your love is the key to it all
