See the sadness in her eyes
She's built a wall up-from her lies
She keeps them bottled up, up inside
And tells herself
She will survive

CHORUS:

Keeps a secret deep inside
But these bruises she can't hide
She wants to fly on angle wings
Wonders if her soul will ever, ever come clean

The bruises tell the story
The fear and hate inside of her grows
She has to break free from his hold
Wants a little peace to call her own

Tears of rage stream down her face
The pain will fade, but the memory
She can't erase
The time has come to leave this place
The pills she takes leave a bitter, bitter taste

Chorus
