Each and everyday I time the waiting wind
All the stars that shine this evening
Came to greet you now
At last, the way, I'll protect you when you're lonely
By guiding you 'round
Tears won't ever leave you like the autumn leaves
Bearing fruit, that seasons everything
It's everything to to me
That life will never end
Those tears will show the light,
Coming through the night
If there's anything around that tries to get,
To you doesn't
Mean your love can't make the moment right
Better best to try it I've found,
It makes the evening bright
It's all been down
We treat us down
And I just saw the man giving peace a kindly hand.
It doesn't even end in a dream
Things are never quite the way they seem
All in all/you're really
So much more
Each and everyday, each and everyday
Each and everyday, each and everyday,
I'll guard you till the end.

-----
Took a little love, walked through a garden
Who can I see, in and around your hand
Looking to the top, as he feeds beside you
Humming bird, close to your hand.

It was for a reason I did not see before, it was;
someone did give me eyes
That is nature sounding within
In the face of it
In the face of it there's nothing left to rhyme and the more you try you'll understand
They'll be flying into your hand tomorrow.
