Olias awoke from a dream and drank his soul into the ocean
that sailed past the brink of his window that long summer.

Then build the ship the Moorglade Mover
to sail a silence which nobody knows...

Olias shines as clear as his sons emotions retrace him.
(As one delivers always one will shine over you)

I've sailed and always will to parts of Sunhallow
(Ride on Olias remember your begotten father)

I've trailed and sailed a silence which nobody knows (Ride on Olias remember your begotten sons)

lay lay lay lay
lay lay lay lay
