Wooh!
Ooh Yeah!
Come on!

First time I heard the music
I thought it was my own
I could feel it in my heartbeat
I could feel it in my bones

My momma thinks I'm crazy
Dad says I'm insane
I got the boogie woogie fever
Burning in my veins

They took me to a doctor
But it's too late for me
They dragged me to a preacher
They saw on their tv

He said that for a small donation
Your lost soul will be saved
I said I don't think so preacher
I'll come back another day

All that I want, is to be a Rolling Stone
They don't understand what we all know

It feels so good it ought to be illegal
I got my vaccination from a phonograph needle
I'll never grow up, I'll never grow old
Blame it on the love of rock & roll

Hey! My teachers didn't like me they tried to put me down
'cause I wore my hair too long
Played my music way too loud

Every little boy wants to learn to play guitar
So he can pick up all the chicks
And be a rock n roll star
They said it won't last, but they misunderstood
If people think it's bad, I'll be bad for good

LORD!

Ya know it feels so good it ought to be illegal
I got my vaccination from a phonograph needle
I'll never grow up, and I'll never grow old
Blame it on the love of rock & roll
Blame it on the love, blame it on the love

Well Daddy don't understand what the little girls know
Blame it on the love of rock & roll

All I wanted
All I ever needed
My guitar gave to me

Every song I've sung, blame it on the love
Every war I've won, blame it on the love
Everything I've done, blame it on the love

Blame it on the love of rock & roll

It feels so good it ought to be illegal
I got my vaccination from a phonograph needle
I'll never grow up and I'll never grow old
Blame it on the love of rock & roll
Blame it on the the love
B-B-B-BLAME it on the love
Daddy just don't get what his little girl knows
Blame it on the love of rock & roll
