Everyone's coming over tonight I swept the floor and bought some ice and I'm picking out something to wear as I try to guess the way she'll do her hair

I'm blowing up they're showing up fast I realize I wore this shirt last time I saw you man life moves...

A little too hard and a little too fast we keep talking 'bout good ol' days like they're gonna come back yeah it's nice to see you again why do the summers have to end?

Let the reminiscing begin pull out old pictures, man what where we thinking? like my bleached hair with that old shirt we look so stupid, well, except for her and even though everything has changed time is only half to blame and tonight it's true
man, life moves
