Hey boys, you better hold real still and don't make a noise

What she hears she kills

Those little glances, she gives them out all day

So don't waste your chances and just let her walk

The way she's gonna walk all over you

Your jaw's just gonna drop like the others do

Falling in love so fast it hurts when I think back

To the first time I saw her eyes

The memory used to be a friend of mine

But now she's in another town probably

Got the other boys running around

And she'll bless them with the same curse

Falling in love so fast it hurts

Hey girls, you better hide your men

It's not just her looks and her curls

It's what she does with them

Now don't look now but here she comes

Rolling your name right off her tongue

She stares at you as she talks

You try to listen but you really just watch

...The way she's gonna walk all over you

Your jaw's just gonna drop like the others do

Falling in love so fast it hurts when I think back

To the first time I saw her eyes

The memory used to be a friend of mine

But now she's in another town probably

Got the other boys running around

And she'll bless them with the same curse

Falling in love so fast it hurts

There's nothing you can do

She'll take your dreams and your nightmares

And they'll both come true

You're on a long, long list of fools

In the end, when she's got your heart again

You won't even know how she does it

All you know is you freaking love it

Falling in love so fast it hurts when I think back
To the first time I saw her eyes
The memory used to be a friend of mine
But now she's in another town probably
Got the other boys running around
And she'll bless them with the same curse
Falling in love so fast it hurts
