The saddest face I've ever shaved is staring back at me
My eyes look like a roadmap
Lord I ain't slept a wink
So I turned on the radio
Heard the forecast on the news
They're calling for a cold coffee morning and a warm beer afternoon
Better get out my umbrella
There's some teardrops coming down
The radar has detected
A heartache west of town
Now I'm directly in the path of a love that died too soon
It's gonna be a cold coffee morning and a warm beer
afternoon

She hit me like a hurricane
And blew my heart away
She clouded up my thinking
And rained on my parade
I'm here in the aftermath
With nothing to hold on to Nothing but a cold coffee morning and a warm beer
afternoon
Better get out my umbrella
There's some teardrops coming down
The radar has detected
A heartache west of town
Now I'm directly in the path of a love that died too soon
It's gonna be cold coffee morning and a warm beer
afternoon
Now I'm directly in the path of a love that died too soon
It's gonna be a cold coffee morning and a warm beer
afternoon
