When you are gone away

I will have nothing left

But your memory.

And I wish that we could say

The things we want to say when we are far, so far

Away, dear.

I don't want anything without you.

Night comes, the night is here

My thoughts are clear now

But, who will take care of me

When you are gone away.

You took away my fears

The tears are gone now

But who will take care of me

When you are gone away.
