Soft reflections inviting my eyes
Fill my darkness with a warm harbor light
Oh babe, you cared and I was save
I lost you in a stormy night
Understanding swept away
But from distant shores
You have brought me home again

Across the water you can follow the stars
Look a lifetime
Still not know where you are
Oh babe, you know I'm here to stay
And from distant shores
You have brought me home again

Winds told me that you would hold me again
Ocean breezes would soon release me
And all my searching would end
There you go, inviting my eyes
Fill my darkness with a warm harbor light
Oh babe, you cared and I was save
Just to lay down in your loving arms
Takes the emptiness away
And from distant shores
You have brought me home again
And from distant shores
You have brought me home again
