Ordo ab Chao:

But can you thrive on the Order you derive from the Chaos

watch for the way that the day to day can play not hearing what they say cause an awful lot of sayers still can't find thier way but thats ok
still can't find thier way but thats ok.

You've got to watch for the One with the Broken Allegory telling everyone to pay attention to his Story framing in the sun just to run with the glory and i can't tell the one from the other and i'm sorry no i can't tell the one from the other and i'm sorry

We end up where we begin
I can't sleep thru the day no not again
Practiced all of my sins
But i can't laugh them away no not again

And if you go with the flow you'll always end up in the valley

just knowing what you know and exposing all your failings to the knowers growing slowly colder waiting for the end with their lives and their wives and their friends with thier lives and thier wives and all of their friends.

And i pray for the day that we all get to play the game we've been practicing while were waiting for the real world to dawn, the fake world is fading and i can't tell the one from the other anyway no i can't tell the one from the other anyway.

We end up where we begin
I can't sleep thru the day no not again
Practiced all of my sins
But i can't laugh them away no not again
