"Brandy Eyes"

Eyes that send me
Chasing after feelings that I lost one day
Why befriend me, when the brandy tells me
What they want to say
Playing big protector is a grand disguise
Till you contradict yourself with brandy eyes

No beginning
Still no end to let me shrug and walk away
Silly grinning, teasing talking
Promise of a kiss some day
I would put you out of mind if I were wise
But wisdom has no power over brandy eyes

Maybe I'm wrong
If I am please pardon me and pat my head
Sing an old song, sing of one more foolish heart
That's been mislead
Take the points for winning and donate the prize
And keep right on a-scoring with those brandy eyes
