

Joni Mitchell

"Carnival in Kenora"

Visit "Carnival in Kenora" on MotoLyrics.com

Twinkle, twinkle what a pity
All alone on such a pretty night
With enchantment on your side

Popcorn, popcorn, cotton candy
Soft voice whispers, "This can all be right
If you'll come and share a ride"

Carnival in Kenora
I let him take me for a ride
On a giant ferris wheel

Up in the neon sky
Or far from the barker's cry
One kiss can sometimes
Make you feel like a spinning Ferris wheel

All the tents are taken down now
All that's left is scuffled ground now
Still the magic echoes in the sand

Popcorn, popcorn, cotton candy
Now a stranger takes my hand
We smile and the magic understands

Carnival in Kenora
I let him take me for a ride
On a giant Ferris wheel

Up in the neon sky
Or far from the barker's cry
One kiss can sometimes
Make you feel like a spinning Ferris wheel

Visit Joni Mitchell page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.