Got a pocket full of power
Got a handle on control
Take a better man than you babe
To rectify the damage to my soul
Cause you took me down so easy
Got the devil in you veins
I may remember what was good,
But I won't forget the pain
No I won't forget the pain

Take the high road easy
When your steel begins to rust
Take the high road easy
And your bones will turn to dust

Well this mornin it was sunshine
But my head was in the clouds
Cause the minute that I hit the street
I saw you face in every crowd
With the humble scraps you feed me
Got addicted to the game
I may remember what was good
But I won't forget the name
No I won't forget the name

Take the high Road Easy
When you face begins to crack
Take the high Road easy
Cause you won't be comin back

Take the high road easy
When your steel begins to rust
Take the high road easy
And your bones will turn to dust

Time will tell if your destined to fall
You gotta throw that shit away
You don't want more no you just want it all
Well it might be better baby
You know the devil. devil gotta get paid
