(VERSE 1)

The sky was perfect blue
Me and you with a new beginning
One and one made two
All we knew was that we had each other Like gentle lavender on my face, what a gorgeous feeling
You took me up so high
Felt so free with no walls or ceilings

For every way my emotions have gone
There's a shade that goes along
Your painting of me like the canvases
You're forging my song

Chorus:

Went through so many changes
Don't know how I became this There's a different shade for all that we've been through
These are my colors for you
I'm trying to think back to what I was before you
But for every turn a different hue
These are my colors for you

(VERSE 2)

So the seasons go brightly so we prepare for changes
A certain change in tint
There were hints while the bright ones faded Appear a perfect sky shadowed by the remainings of pain
Once so beautiful in perfect blue now is all in grey

For every way my emotions have gone
There's a shade that goes along
Your painting of me like the canvases
You're forging my song

Chorus:

Went through so many changes
Don't know how I became this

There's a different shade for all that we've been
through
These are my colors for you
I'm trying to think back to what I was before you
But for every turn a different hue
These are my colors for you

(VERSE 3)

A mixture of these colors brought up to your encounter
Everything you put in me is now manifesting
The lavenders, the blues, the grays and yellows too
Have all gone into what you see standing here before you

Chorus:

Went through so many changes
Don't know how I became this
There's a different shade for all that we've been
through
These are my colors for you
I'm trying to think back to what I was before you
But for every turn a different hue
These are my colors for you
Went through so many changes
Don't know how I became this
There's a different shade for all that we've been
through
These are my colors for you
I'm trying to think back to what I was before you
But for every turn a different hue
These are my colors for you

These are my colors for you
