If words can be unsaid,
If goodbyes can be undone,
I promise I'll let..
Let you know you were the one
I know I said this was the end,
And as you watch me drive away,
My mind's on the pedal but my heart is on the brake.

Just when I break away, I hear myself say...
Wait, it's never too late, to let your guard down
Think I better turn this car around Cause I can't take, watching you fade into the background
So I better turn this car around
I gotta turn this car around
I better turn this car around

Don't take long to learn, what you just can't live without It's only a minute, but my heart begins to pound Like I'm allergic to the space, that I'm in when you're not around
You wouldn't believe this, but the silence is so loud

Just when I break away, I hear myself say...
Wait, it's never too late, to let your guard down
Think I better turn this car around
Cause I can't take, watching you fade into the background
So I better turn this car around
I gotta turn this car around
I better turn this car around

If words can be unsaid,
If goodbyes can be undone,
Well maybe they can...

Wait, it's never too late, to let your guard down
Think I better turn this car around
Cause I can't take, watching you fade into the background
So I better turn this car around
I gotta turn this car around

I better turn this car around.
