It's been a long long while
I know I've caused you pain
Living without you it's not quite the same
Can we start over again

I played around too long
Running from end to end
Took you for granted I've been such a fool
Can't we start over again

All through my life of seasons
No matter how far I long
Always there's something missing inside
Yearning to come back home

You are the one I return to
Love only love leads the way
Give us this chance to start over again
Darling I'm coming home to stay

You are the one I return to
Love only love leads the way
Give us this chance to start over again
Darling I'm coming home to stay

It's been a long long while
I know I've caused you pain
Living without you it's not quite the same
Can we start over again

I played around too long
Running from end to end
Took you for granted I've been such a fool
Can't we start over again

All through my life of seasons
No matter how far I long
Always there's something missing inside
Yearning to come back home

You are the one I return to
Love only love leads the way

Give us this chance to start over again
Darling I'm coming home to stay
