So how are you in that tincan of your life
Do you ever dream of Summer?
I fed you diamonds
Once taught you how to fly
Then you turned and walked away

Are you the man who with sorrow named his friends?
I know another who moved mountains
I know somewhere you can pave your dreams with silence
If it means happiness for you...

Does the air you breathe catch the sun like Dragonflies?
I'll send the sunshine out for you
Does the air you breathe make you lighter than the sky?
Hear the island sings for you
