

Joseph Arthur "Say Goodbye"

Visit "Say Goodbye" on MotoLyrics.com

If you're going to leave
You should say goodbye
You should say goodbye
You should say goodbye

I know it's getting harder every time you cry
But you should say goodbye
You should say goodbye

You left on a cold afternoon
Leaving winter in the month of June
Here for a while, now you're gone too soon
Like a hidden flower that forgot to bloom

If you're going to leave
You should day goodbye
You should say goodbye
You should say goodbye

Can't help but be a liar, saying it will never die
But you should say goodbye
You should say goodbye
You've burnt the sun and broke the moon
I could see you lying in an empty room
The letter you left me was laced with your perfume
Like a butterfly trying to fly ??????????

If you're going to leave
You should day goodbye
You should say goodbye
You should say goodbye

Can't help but be a liar, saying it will never die
But you should say goodbye
You should say goodbye

If you're going to leave
You should day goodbye
You should say goodbye
You should say goodbye

