Hustle and flow!

papa may have been a rolling stone but he's always home hugging his little girl, playing games and all and that's admirable. so how's she so sad and sore? girl's been touched by a devil or something. she's always running like she's scared when nothing's there, it's a little weird!

she's screams without a sound. her crying's getting louder now. i think i hear her falling down.

took too many doses, things are bright and they keep bending making everything just rise and fall as if the world were breathing lungs, full of atmosphere with such an arrogant air about the air and it's humid, it's liquid, it's warm and it's cool and... she's screams without a sound. her cries are getting stifled now. i think i hear her drowning out.

oh my god, it's been building for years but the screaming gets too loud to hear, alright?

you know my answer to you remains the same until the day they find me black and blue
