Awaiting fortunate fly
the destination not mine You brought us here took us in showed us how we've killed our own for years Strengthened by the divide with armor built to defy The moving hands
they wanted it beneath the sands the blood was darker then

She bore something worth dieing for Soon there will be nothing left
Tell me, tell me will we fly again?

Waiting so long for the end of the end
It's only on the inside
Waiting so long for the end of the end
It's only on the inside x2 trying to escape

Awaiting fortunate fly
to think you know in your mind

What we're here for The cornerstone she wrapped it up
I took it home
The blade of the samurai when faint perceptions collide A gift to you the great divide enduring still so you won't see what-

She bore something worth dieing for
Soon there will be nothing left
Tell me, tell me will we fly again?

Chorus

I know you waited so long
I know you knew all along We carried her on wounded knee of sweat and blood and finally She bore something worth living for Its only on the inside
