She said there's happiness here.
Like the colors in a painting,
only resonating her heart.
And I said that I would be there.
Just to see that day coming,
win that race running,
for you.
And I would hold you,
but I'm afraid I might let you go.
So don't go!

Get Ready For This.
I'm not ready for this.
Time will fly,
but we'll stay the same.
We'll be the reminiscence.
Get Ready For This.
She's not ready for this.
We'll move on and be just fine.
But I can't find a way out.
No I can't find a way out.

She said she'd be my ever after.
Like the words on the pages,
hearts in our cages,
for love.
And I said,
"I'd follow you wherever.
From the west to the east side,
I'll be by your side,
forever."
And I would hold you,
but I'm afraid I might let you go.
So don't go!

Get Ready For This.
I'm not ready for this.
Time will fly,
but we'll stay the same.
We'll be the reminiscence.
Get Ready For This.
She's not ready for this.

We'll move on and be just fine.
But I can't find a way out.
No I can't find a way out.

And I've been trying to make up,
a way it'll work out.
But it never ends how,
it would be.
And I've been lying to myself,
saying it'll be alright.
That it'll be ok.
But it's not ok.

Get Ready For This.
I'm not ready for this.
Time will fly,
but we'll stay the same.
We'll be the reminiscence.
Get Ready For This.
She's not ready for this.
We'll move on,
and be just fine.
But I can't find a way out.
No I can't find a way out.
