Learn from the in-between
Blinded by trust, asleep to the truth

Awakened by disbelief
Somewhere I found strength in my soul
Still you refuse to see

Are you sure I'm not all right?
'Cause lately I've been feeling fine
Every lifeline leads its own way to the heavens
But I have seen you run in circles, unforgiven

Is there anything in this world
That can make you stop?
Oh, you're a machine

A world of your own, hollow inside
Careful when worlds collide
I'm filling my life with all it can hold
Carry it on with pride

Are you sure I am not all right?
'Cause lately I've been feeling fine
Every lifeline leads its own way to the heavens
But I have seen you run in circles, unforgiven

Is there anything in this world
That can make you stop?
Oh, you're a machine

The sun's still above
All the rain that's coming down
And I can feel the clouds drifting away
And now the sky is open wide

Turn the light on
And you will see things so much clearer
Oh, but there's no heart
Oh, there's no heart

And I've spent all this time feeling

Something you can't feel at all
You're a machine
Oh, you're a machine
