well theres one thing mama I think you should know it is not love
that makes the flowers grow but a complex electron transfer process known as photosynthesis when chlorofyll reacts to the light of day but since you're gone the light has gone away well theres one more thing mama I think you will find

that makes the stars shine but the spontaneous combuston of super heated super condensed gasses in a process known as fusion that creates new elements when the time is right
the stars dont shine so bright well theres another thing mama I think I should confide

it is not love
that'll turn the tide but the net difference in the gravitational pull between the earth and the moon as it is acted out upon the waves
but since youre gone
I feel washed away

I could've been a mathmatician studied rockets for a livin would've worked out better in the end but to get more specific I'd break every law of physics to bring you back to me again well theres one more thing I'll tell you if I can

that makes a non-stick frying pan but a top secret trademark conglomerated most likely carcinogenic polyeurothane compound spreading of microthin substance over a negatively charged layer of aluminum, copper, iron, lead, vhs, fyi, apple pie, FBI, and some other elements too
but since youre gone
I wish I'd stuck to you.
