Another day
Another dollar for me
These footprints tell the same old lie
I've learned it so perfectly
I couldn't stick out even if I tried

And I tried to find a way
Out of this normality
I tried to find the one to save me
But instead you found me
And suddenly nothing seems to matter much
And I don't know what quiet to do
Must of been something in your touch
That's got me acting like a fool
Coz suddenly everything I used cared for in this world
Just vanished with
The sight of you
So suddenly

I can't remember how it was before
It was a time when all I saw was grief
And now I feel like there's a world to explore
Coz you put the colors back into my day

And I tried to find a way
Out of this normality
I tried to find the one to save me

But instead you found me
And suddenly nothing seems to matter much
And I don't know what quiet to do
Must of been something in your touch
That's got me acting like a fool
Coz suddenly everything I used care for in this world
Just vanished with
The sight of you
So suddenly

And now it seems like a brand new day for me
The sun is smiling
Rise and shine come on out to see
And I still can't believe this change in me

And how it happened
Ohhh oh so suddenly

Suddenly nothing seems to matter much
And I don't know what quiet to do
Must of been something in your touch
That's got me acting like a fool
Coz suddenly everything I used care for in this world
Just vanished with
The sight of you
So suddenly
