I'm fallin' in love again could we pretend it's never been this way
Just so I can leave eventually and be the one that you miss. Mmmhmm
Why are there no songs about what's in between?
No ballads that boast about how solid we have been Why doesn't anyone tell you staying in's the better part of love?
I think that staying in better be the better part of love
When I first saw you there I couldn't help but stop and stare your way
You hair was a mess but I confess that's when I like you the best. Mmmhmm
How could I know what would happen in between?
Just meeting you is not the best thing that has been After fallin' the best parts staying in
I know that staying in better be the better part of love

If you call it forever you jinx it If you think it won't last you don't mean it So why do we cry over when it's born and dies
And no one sings about the better part

Don't know the future and I'm not too sure how it first began
So I won't worry about it. I have no doubt it's good throughout Mmhmm
Why are there no songs about what's in between?
No ballads that boast about how solid we have been Why doesn't anyone tell you staying in's the better part
of love?
I know that staying in better be the better part of love
