Look at my face, look at my eyes, look at my teeth,
And watch me walk away, do you think you will ever see me again?

Give me this night, give me this town, give me the time Because we don't have long, and I know I'll never see you again

And this time I think I'm sure, but I've been wrong before
Is it too late to call you my baby?
Well I hope that someday, well I hope you come around

Read my lips, read my book, read my palm, and tell me
I'll be alright,
Will you tell me that everyone gets hurt sometimes?
Watch your mouth, watch your kids, watch my things Because it's all I have to give And you hate all of my dreams, and you hate the way I live

And this time I think I'm sure
And is it too late to call you my baby?
Well I hope that someday, well I hope you come around

And this time I think I'm sure, but I've been wrong
And you've got so much heart, so lets go back Lets go back, lets go back to the start

And is it too late to call you my baby?
Well I hope that someday, well I hope you come around
And is it too late to tell you I still love you?
Yeah I'm still thinking of you, so please just come around
