The TV's blaring, the radio is turned up loud
Maybe then I'll sleep well, maybe then I'll drown you out.

Don't want to think much I don't want to reminisce Cuz love songs and poems have all lead, they've all led me to this.

Chorus:

It's dangerous, to be sleepin alone.
And it's way way way it's way to cold
To be at home.

I've locked up tightly I must say I've had my doubts
Cuz they will kick and they will scream but there's no way they're ever getting out.

They breathed fresh air once, a long time a long time ago.

And now stuck up inside my head, how they ever gonna grow?

Chorus:

It's dangerous, to be sleepin alone.
And it's way way way it's way to cold
To be at home.

And I am what I am, yes I am what I am
It ain't that bad.

What I'm tryin to say here is not worth, it's not worth your time
I'm just a lonely, a lonely love sick boy with my rhyme.

Chorus:

It's dangerous, to be sleepin alone.
And it's way way way it's way to cold
To be at home.

And I am what I am, yes I am what I am
It ain't that bad.

And even the toughest white boy, yes even the baddest
white boy

He still gets sad.
