Been working on a song for you,
a simple melody.
Something just to let you know, how much you mean to me.

Tryin' to find the perfect lines, but the words put up a fight.
No matter how hard i try, i just can't say it right,
i love you, so much more, than words could ever say.
So i just let my piano play

How could i describe the way your eyes look into mine?,
i could never do justice to the way, your love makes me
shine,
i love you, so much more, than words could ever say,
so i just let my piano play

If i could turn my voice to thunder as i sing these words
to you,
if i could be the morning sunlight on your face.
maybe then my song would do,
but i am just a minstrel and music is my trade.

How could i write a song for you?,
when you're every love song, i have ever played.
i love you so much more than words could ever say,
so i just let my piano play.

If i could turn my voice to thunder as i sing these words
to you,
if i could be the morning sunlight on your face.
maybe then my song would do,
but i am just a minstrel and music is my trade.

How could i write a song for you?,
when you're every love song i have ever played.
i love you, so much more, than words could ever say, so I'll just let my piano play.
