Time stopped when I saw you
I could barely breathe
Day broke
The sun rose
Lighting up your face
I am a lucky man
To recognize your grace
When I woke this morning next to you
I said baby this must be the place
Then you said, I know I'll never find another like you
Where I'm going, I know I'll never find another like you
Where the winds are blowing
So when I'm far away from here
I'm leaving you this song
And when you feel you miss me
You can always sing along
I am a lucky man
To recognize your grace
When I woke this morning next to you
I said baby this must be the place
Then you said, I know I'll never find another like
you
Where I'm going, I know I'll never find another
like you
Where the winds are blowing
You're the greenest grass growing
You've got this way of saying things on my mind
Before I know them
I've got these feelings that I've come to find
I'm ready to show
If I looked I'd never find another like you
Where I'm going
I know I'll never find another like you
Where the winds are blowing
You're the greenest grass growing
I said now I know I'll never find another like you
Where I'm going
I know I'll never find another like you
Where the winds are blowing
You're the greenest grass growing
