Your eyes have changed from brown to blue to green and back again Oh, oh how I tried tried to see but clearly I am colorblind Oh, you're such a mystery tried to solve you but it was harder than it seemed

'Cause love is a foreign language
I don't understand
We can try and try to make it right
but lately it's been out of my hands
Even though I've been told it's everything that I've ever dreamed Could it be that love played a trick on me

The sky isn't the same it went from blue to black and then it rained Oh, baby not this time there goes another tear from my eyes

'Cause love is a foreign language
I don't understand
We can try and try to make it right
but lately it's been out of my hands
Even though I've been told
it's everything that I've ever dreamed
Could it be
that love played a trick on me

Darling, we tried but we failed we loved but we lost again From divine comedy we turned tragedy and you know you made a fool of me

'Cause love is a foreign language
I don't understand
We can try and try to make it right
but lately it's been out of my hands
Even though I've been told
it's everything that I've ever dreamed
Could it be
that love played a trick on me

That love played a trick on me...
