It's so typical I'm always amazed
When it comes to You
Feels so natural To be blown away
When I stop and think of How your love is etched upon my heart
And how no matter If I laugh, If I hope
If I dream you're a part of me
Wanting You, needing You
Loving You comes to me
It comes like Second Nature like
Breathing in, breathing out
Something I don't think about
It comes like Second Nature
Second Nature
Like an instinct That I can't control
I always turn to You It's a spiritual thing
A thirst in my soul That makes me run
Into your arms and to the place
Our hearts collide where
Everything comes clear
And I see, from the start
This is how love was meant to be
It's so obvious I was born for this Born for a love like this
And I know for sure I've been captured
There's no escaping this...
