I can feel you at night, all the fear that you fight
I know that it's not been easy
When life wears you down, and your heart loses ground
And love has no rime or reason
When your tears have been cried, and you leave behind that pride
You will find a faith to make it through

If you believe, believe in who you are
Believe with all your heart
And don't let fear and longing overtake you
Believe, the strength you have within
Will bring you back again
All you really need is to believe

When you're lost and confused
Don't know which way to choose
Remember what time has shown you
At the end of the day there is always a way
If you don't let your trouble own you
There is one thing i know
Which ever way the wind may blow
You will have something to hold on to

If you believe, believe in who you are
Believe with all your heart, and nothing
Nothing in this world can break you
Believe, the strength you have within
Will bring you back again
All you really need is to believe

I will always be here beside you
I will never deny you
Whenever you're in need
I'll be there

If you believe in who you are
With all your heart
Nothing in this world can break you
If you believe in a new tomorrow

Then all your dreams will surely follow you
And nothing will overtake you Believe, believe in who you are
Believe with all your heart
And nothing will ever break you
Believe, the strength you have within
Will bring you back again
All you really need is to believe
