Hey kids turn off the tv, no i don't want to watch the evening news so come on over here and sit down next to me, and let your momma look at you, and you and you.

your beautiful faces that i wanna keep safe as long as i can, i'm telling you right now, there's gonna be peace in this house, there's gonna be peace in this house. there's gonna be some tender talkin and sweet little nothings that add up to the somethings we can do without, there's gonna be peace in this house some belief in this house. every good thing that ever happens, happens from the inside out i'm telling you now, there's gonna be peace in this house did i tell you today that i love you, you're the reasons for everything i do and sometimes i think the only hope for this world is the love in you, and you and you.

let's try to be patient let's all play nice cause everyone's gonna get a slice of this pie there's gonna be piece in this house

gonna be some tender talkins sweet little nothings that add up to the somethings we can do without there's gonna be peace in this house some belief in this house every good thing that ever happens happens from the inside out i'm telling you now, there's gonna be peace in this house
