You tell me that you're falling apart at the seams
You're all talk, talk
You're looking for a first class ticket to your dreams
So just walk, walk
I'm not the one responsible if you never ever find your miracle

Baby, I would walk on water, I would do it for you
I would walk on water, if you could ever be true

You're caught up in a world of material things
And you keep score, score
Just when I think I've given you everything
You want more, more I'm not the one to take the blame, if you measure your life through personal gain

I would walk on water, I would do it for you
I would walk on water, if you could ever be true

I'm not the on responsible if you never ever find your
miracle

I would walk on water, if you could ever be true
